GEORGE E. ADAMS

HIS DEATH AN ACCIDENT FOR WHICH TRUCK DRIVER IS NOT CENSURED

Such investigations as have been made of the circumstances surrounding the tragic death of George E. Adams, who was run down and killed by an auto truck Wednesday morning, December 10, 1919, indicate that no blame attached to the truck driver, that it was simply one of the unexplainable accidents. As nearly as his son, Edwin L. Adams, could ascertain when he drove to Los Angeles on receipt of the news, his father had been transacting business with a real estate agent on Stephenson Avenue and was hastening to a street car. So intent was he on catching it that he failed to observe the approaching auto truck. He never regained consciousness after being struck and died very soon after.

A coroner's inquest will be held Friday morning at the Jewel City Undertaking parlors and funeral services will take place the same afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Deceased was born in Dublin, New Hampshire, September 27th, 1845, and was therefore seventy-four years old when death claimed him. In the early part of his life he taught school and then went into the grocery business which he followed until he retired nine years ago. He lived in Massachusetts, near Boston, for about ten years, and came to California in 1887, conducting a grocery business in Los Angeles until he moved to Glendale in 1910. He leaves a widow, Ellenora M. Adams, two sons, Edwin L. Adams of this city, and Everett E. Adams, who for some time has been in the service of the government in Washington, D. C. in connection with the Railroad Administration, and a daughter, Mrs. Emma Laubach, of Los Angeles. He will be missed in this city as he was a broad-minded, public spirited man and a deeply religious one. During his residence here he had been active in the work of the First Congregational Church, of which he was a member, and he was seldom absent from a Sunday service. He was regarded as one of the choice men of the community who kept abreast of the times and who was always ready to do what he could to promote the best interests of the community and state.

While the manner of his death was a terrible shock to his wife, who at the time was attending a club meeting in South Pasadena in company with her daughter and daughter-in-law, she has met the situation with rare courage and is bearing up bravely.

AN UNIQUE PHONOGRAPH STORE

Frank and Vincent Salmacia of the Glendale Phonograph and Piano Co. state that business in their line is heavy, larger even than before the war. They have just received two carloads of phonographs and they say their store is unique in being the only one of its kind in Southern California to carry all the standard makes of phonographs. It also carries every record, completely catalogued. They think Glendalians do not perhaps all fully realize what purchase privileges they have right at home, as good service as they could obtain from any of the big city stores. They are also having quite a trade in the Ampico Reproducing Piano.

CHAPTER A. H.

Chapter A. H. of the P. E. O. had an all-day meeting and luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. Herbert Smith on North Brand Boulevard Tuesday, Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. Tuttle being the assisting hostesses. At the business session Mrs. Leslie Eames was initiated as a member. A very nice travel program was given by Mrs. Charles Turck, who conducted them from America to and through Naples. About twenty-three were present, including the guests of the day, Mesdames J. G. Huntley and Seymour Smith.

KENSINGTON CLUB

Wednesday afternoon the Kensington Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Jennie Tresslar of South Brand Boulevard, about forty ladies being present. Mesdames Abbie Haskell, Elizabeth Stafford, and Essie Russell were assisting hostesses. A delicious two-course luncheon was served at the close of an afternoon of visiting and fancy work and after being entertained by the singing of Mesdames Ruth Olshausen and Pearl Moore accompanied upon the piano by Mrs. Winona Crawford.

STARS IN CONJUNCTION

BIG MOVIE LIGHTS VISIT GLENDALE FOR PRE-RELEASE SHOWING OF FAIRBANKS PICTURE

An opportunity to see at close range a galaxy of movie stars not often visible in the same orbit, was had by the persons who attended the performance at the Palace Grand Theater in this city Wednesday night. These artists came to witness the pre-release showing of Douglas Fairbank's recently completed picture, "When the Clouds Roll By," which was exhibited in connection with the regular program. It proved a great treat to the audience after the surprised patrons learned what was in store for them. "Doug" is a great favorite in Glendale, and all who saw the film declared it would prove to be his greatest picture.

The group of stars included Mary Pickford, Charley Chaplin, Mildred Harris, Catherine Clifford and of course Douglas Fairbanks. Mr. Jensen says that "When the Clouds Roll By" will have its regular run at the Palace Grand in the near future and that patrons will do well to watch for it.

IMPORTANT DINNER

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION AND ANNOUNCEMENT OF ENGAGEMENT OF MISS IVY MILLS

One of the prettiest private social affairs which has taken place in Glendale recently was enjoyed at the home of Miss Ivy Adele Mills at 230 South Louise Street Saturday night when she entertained with a dinner in celebration of the birthday of her friend, Miss Margaret Blake of Los Angeles. It also furnished an occasion for the announcement of the engagement of the young hostess to Claud C. Baldridge.

Covers were laid for eleven and the table was centered with poinsettias in a setting of smilax, the Christmas colors being repeated in the place cards, the nut baskets, and a beautifully decorated birthday cake. With Christmas bells and holly the living rooms were made festive.

A pure white pigeon brought the announcement message. As the honoree, Miss Blake, began the cutting of the birthday cake, it flew into the room. When caught a scroll was detached from a cord hung about its neck which bore these words:

"I, the little bird of love,
Have the right to whisper the engagement of Ivy Adele Mills and Claud C. Baldridge."

After congratulations had been received by all the honorees, the entire party went to Los Angeles and witnessed a presentation of "Art and Opportunity" at the Majestic Theatre.

The hostess was assisted in receiving and entertaining her guests by her sister, Mrs. Mayme Kerri. Those present were: Miss Margaret Blake, Miss Groenkhe, Miss Grimshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Oliver, Claud Baldridge, E. T. Baldridge, Wayne Baldridge, Mervyn Mills, Mrs. Kerri and the hostess, Miss Mills.

AFTERNOON TEA

MRS. E. H. WILLISFORD ENTERTAINS FOR BENEFIT OF NEW COMERS IN GLENDALE

Mrs. E. H. Willisford entertained at her home on North Orange street Wednesday afternoon with one of her popular "get acquainted" teas. She was assisted in receiving by Mesdames B. E. Price, E. D. Yard, A. A. Richards and J. M. Stadt, and by other guests when the refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon, Mr. Willisford also lending his aid. It was chiefly for the benefit of recent arrivals, the guest list including the following new comers: Mrs. C. C. Cooper of 302 North Central, Mrs. A. H. Wheat of 343 Salem street, Mrs. H. S. Colton and Miss Colton of 823 North Brand, Mrs. M. J. Hines of 323 West Broadway, Mrs. Benjamin Robison of 407 North Louise, Mrs. J. E. Sargent, 459 Milford street; Mrs. W. M. Case and Miss Anna Schneider of 709 South Windsor Road, Mrs. F. J. Sherman of 3358 La Clede avenue; Mrs. H. C. Wilson of 3410 La Clede avenue, and Mrs. D. L. Darsie of 436 West California.

GOES TO ARRANGE FOR NEW SUPREME COUNCIL AND FOR UNDERSTANDING WITH GREAT BRITAIN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Premier Clemenceau arrived in London this morning after a stormy trip across the Channel. Press and official circles agreed that Clemenceau's visit has two purposes. The first is to arrange for a new Supreme Council and the second is the completion of an immediate understanding with England which may develop into a Franco-British-Italian alliance. It is claimed that America's failure to ratify the peace treaty may make this necessary.

FULL RESUMPTION COAL MINING SOON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Indications today were that it would be a few days before the striking coal miners are back at work. Although the strike has been officially declared off and the men have been instructed to resume work immediately, reports showed that everywhere they are waiting for the arrival of official copies of their instructions and at but a few points have operations been resumed. The reports showed that where men were returning to work they constituted only a few stragglers.

Confidence was expressed that work will be resumed on a normal scale next week in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Illinois. In Kansas the situation has been complicated by the state's operation of coal mines. It is expected that fuel restrictions will continue for several weeks.

BLAMES SEATTLE STRIKE

CHARGES THAT IT WAS THE INSPIRATION OF GENERAL STRIKE AT WINNIPEG

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Dec. 11.—Charges that the Seattle general strike was the inspiration for the recent general strike here, were made today in the trial of R. B. Russell, strike leader. A pamphlet was presented in evidence giving an outline of the methods followed in the Seattle strike.

KOREAN GOVERNOR ISSUES PROTEST

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TOKIO, Japan, Dec. 11—Baron Saito, Governor General of Korea, issued a statement today charging that foreign missionaries are agitating for Korean independence.

Saito's statement goes further than any statement made previously and many observers consider that it is aimed directly at American missionaries. In effect the statement directly charges that American missionaries are agitating for rebellion against Japanese rule.

ORANGE PACKING HOUSES MENACED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Sheriff Cline today ordered guards placed around the Covina, Glendora, Azusa, Pomona, Monrovia and San Dimas orange packing houses following the receipt of information which caused him to believe that "reds" are planning a campaign of wholesale destruction against these packing houses. A year ago much trouble with agitators was experienced in that district.

VILLISTA AND CARRANZA FORCES BATTLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, Dec. 11.—It is reported here that four hundred Villistas attacked the Carranza garrison at Musquic, one hundred miles southwest of the border and that a battle raged for two days. Villista forces under Hipolito Villa are reported to have taken the town, looted the stores, and held several prominent citizens as hostages. The report said the attack was carried out to avenge the execution of General Angeles.

Carranza troops are mobilizing twenty-five miles away for an attack on the Villistas.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

The cycle of another Masonic year completed by Unity Chapter No. 116, Royal Arch Masons, was marked by a fine dinner and the public installation of officers.

The Masons are blest—almost without exception—with devoted wives who, in spite of their exclusion from all knowledge of what goes on at the regular chapter sessions are nevertheless unselfish and highminded enough to lend their aid wherever they can be of service, and that is usually in the preparation and serving of dinners on such grand occasions as this. The banquet enjoyed Wednesday night was no exception to its honorable predecessors, thanks to the skill and hard work of the wives of officers headed by Mrs. M. T. Lee, whose husband was about to be installed as High Priest, and of Mrs. Clem Moore, the wife of the retiring High Priest. The Christmas note was suggested by the holly with which the long tables were decorated, and by the roast beef which formed the solid foundation of the feast topped off with coffee and hot rolls, a delicious apple salad, ice cream and cake. Covers were laid for about 100 and children of members assisted in the serving.

Following the dinner, members and guests adjourned to the lodge hall which had been very beautifully decorated for this occasion and for the installation of officers of the Eastern Star, which takes place tonight. Above the platform and the chair of the High Priest was an airy, dainty canopy of alternating strands of smilax and white streamers, the same green and white decoration being repeated in a bit of white lattice twined with ivy which framed the brick panel in the wall at the rear of the platform. Lining the walls around the hall were long palm branches and the note of bright color needed for relief was furnished by the American flag in its standard at the right of the platform and by the gay festooning of electric light globes with streamers representing the colors of "the star." Suspended from the dark beams at appropriate intervals were fern balls, the whole decorative scheme making an ensemble wonderfully satisfying and a setting most suitable for the ceremonies with which the candidates in their rich vestments were inducted into office.

Again was High Priest Dale Owen Peet, who knows the book of instructions from cover to cover, the installing officer, performing his duty with dignity and instructing each candidate with a serious gravity that was highly impressive.

Clem L. V. Moore, the retiring High Priest, acted as master of ceremonies, and the session opened with his presentation to the installing officer of Right Excellent Companion Mattison Boyd Jones as Grand King. As such distinguished member he was welcomed with congratulations for himself and the chapter and assigned to a place of honor.

The officers to be installed were then brought before the installing officer in the order of their rank and invested with the symbols of their office as follows:

Mark Thurlow Lee, of Eagle Rock, High Priest; William Small Rattray, King; Ernest John Morgan, Scribe; Frank Horn Vesper, Treasurer; C. Harry Woolsey, Secretary; Alfonso Lafayette Chandler, Chaplain; Dwight West Stephenson, Captain of the Host; Rollin Lee McNitt, Principal Sojourner; Arthur Henry Dibbern, Royal Arch Captain; Thomas Francis Carter, Master of the First Veil; Daniel Hunsberger, Master of the Second Vail; Edward Paul Jennings, Master of the Third Veil; Charles Henry Ravenscroft, Sentinel.

Interspersed with the ceremonials was a fine musical program, which included a saxaphone solo, "One Fleeting Hour," (Lee) played by Bernard A Lee, son of the High Priest. In response to enthusiastic applause he responded with an encore, Miss E. M. Congdon being his piano accompanist.

Mrs. Ray R. Woodward, sister of Mrs. M. T. Lee, gave the very beautiful vocal number, "Dost Thou Know That Fair Land," (Mignon).

Miss Gertrude Champlain gave a most beautiful piano interpretation of an aria by Gluck, arranged by Joseffy and for an encore number "Minuetto a la Antique," by Soebeck.

Enthusiasm climaxed when a mem-

MARTHA W. MORRIS

SUCCUMBS TO THE CALL OF DEATH'S MESSENGER; LIVED LONG USEFUL LIFE

Mrs. Martha Wright Morris was born in Steubenville, Ohio, January 8th, 1832, and was married March 29th, 1852, to Robert H. Morris of New York, going to Chicago, Ill., where they resided until the beginning of the Lincoln administration, when Mr. Morris was called to Washington on official business, later going to New Orleans, La. Mr. Morris died in October, 1865, and she, with her five children, made her home with her parents in Glendale, Ohio, for some years.

During her long life Mrs. Morris met many noted people and was a participant in many of the events which have gone to make up the history of the country she loved so well.

She came to Glendale, Cal., in November, 1906, to remain for the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Stanley, but by the time the warm weather made advisable her return to Chicago, where she lived with her son, she had made so many friends and was so happy here that she finally decided to remain. She was past-president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, and at the time of her death was an honorary member, not often being able to attend during the last two years. She was a dearly loved member and chaplain of the General Richard A. Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., and also connected with the W. T. K. woman's club of Topeka, Kas., of which she was the founder.

Mrs. Morris had been in rather feeble health for the last few months, but had very recently returned from a visit with friends in Long Beach, and was so much better that on Monday afternoon she did some shopping on Brand boulevard in preparation for the Christmas season, to which she always looked forward with such joy and for which she planned many months ahead. She seemed in her usual health during the early evening, but at 8:30 had an attack of the heart trouble to which she was subject, and was unable to rally. Her death occurred at 2:10 a. m., December 9th.

Mrs. Morris was a lifelong member of the Protestant Episcopal church, an earnest, consistent Christian whose character and sweetness were an inspiration to all who were privileged to know her well. The funeral services will be held by the Rev. Milton S. Runkle of Alhambra at the Little Church of the Flowers Friday, December 12th, at 11 a. m.

She leaves a son, Hamilton F. Morris, of Chicago, Ill., and two daughters, Mrs. Margaret M. Gale of Greeley, Colo., and Mrs. Chas. E. Stanley of Glendale.

TELEPHONE RATES

What are we going to do about the telephone tolls here in Glendale?

The United States government surrendered control of the telephone and telegraph wires on July 31st, 1919, and Congress ruled that the rates at that time were to remain in operation for four months.

This means that the iniquitious Burleson Glendale-Los Angeles toll charge does not have to be paid in December, for the four months of grace ended with November 30, 1919.

Of course, the Telephone Company would be glad to have us forget the real facts in the case, and I know of no ruling by the State Railroad commission establishing these presumed wire rates, therefore, if my understanding is correct, telephone rates remain as they were before the government permitted the change, and I would like to know first, if I am correct, and second, what readers of the NEWS are going to do about it?

As for myself, I shall pay no tolls this month until I see a direct authorization from those in authority, that is, the State Railroad commission and not the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Henry R. Harrower.

ASSOCIATION—ITS OBJECTIVE

Organization or association is for the purpose of developing and bringing into action the good there is in men. Once the good in a fellow man is recognized there springs up a relationship that is almost indestructible. This accounts for our having close personal friends. We have found and seen in action the good qualities of these individuals. Everyone is loath to admit error, consequently once friendship and confidence is established, it requires more than a passing error on the part of our friends to bring forth condemnation or lack of confidence. We will overlook faults rather than destroy the pleasant relations.

We will endeavor to have our friends see as we see that we may still enjoy the advantages of their good will. We endeavor to develop our friends closer to our ideal. In this process, unaware, we are molding our own actions and thoughts nearer to a compatable, closer to our ideal. This friction is reduced and life becomes more enjoyable.

The greater our friends in number, the less of the undesirable of life we see and the more multiplied our pleasures. If every man we met were our enemy life would be one continuous battle, if one-half the men we met were enemies only one-half of life would be a battle, and if none of them were enemies there would be no battle at all. The more time you spend in battle (or destruction,) the more reconstruction is necessary and the less the progress you make. Association then means only one thing, the creating of friends. Few of us need any explanation of the value of our friends.

WILD HORSES ON THE DESERT

At any season of the year, even in the late fall or early winter, when there are scraps of snow on the ground and more than scraps of clouds in the sky, one motoring through what used to be called the Great American Desert looks for wild horses. Of course this region of sage-brush and rabbit brush never was a real desert of sand, like the Sahara, but always it has been more or less a range for sheep and cattle, with a surprising number of succulent spears of grass in the broad open places between the ever-varying mountains. So where there is food for cattle, scarce though it may seem to the onrushing motorist, who has no time for the small things, there is food for mustangs.

As the car whirls away from the last of the valleys that are irrigated by little rivers, the out-of-the-world feeling of the country increases. First, a huge alkali flat reminds one that the silent places are at hand. From the distance it is obviously an obstacle of shivering blue water in the interval of sunshine; but when the road actually lunges out on to this, the pseudo-lake resolves itself into a delightfully solid way of travel through the mirage. Beyond the mirage, as the country becomes more rolling, one realizes that in all this silence the strange sound of the machine is almost bound to arouse any isolated band and send them dashing off behind the nearest hillock. Possibly they may linger unwarned near a water-hole. But more often, when the car rounds the curve in the road where such a hole is hidden, fresh tracks and a bit of desert water for the radiator are the only reward. What a hole it is, with stains of alkali all about it! But the water itself is sweet and cold in a tiny cavelike pool in the earth-bank. Why it stays there throughout the year is hard for the casual observer to determine, since this particular mound seems no different from all the arid others; but here it is, the center of life for such wild horses as may dwell in this vicinity.

On the car rushes into great spaces bounded by the main ranges of that section. There—say, in Railroad Valley, so called because a railroad could be built through the length of it almost on the level, though none has ever come within a hundred miles of it—the sense of vast remoteness, so different from the mere breadth of Kansas or Nebraska prairies, or the huge shade of a big tree forest, seems a still more proper setting for a band of desert roamers. And sure enough, as the automobile bounds over a slight rise, in the midst of a herd of shaggy cattle half a dozen mustangs are grazing. For the instant the presence of the steers has put them off guard. Suddenly, though, they hear the approach. With heads up and unkempt manes and tails blowing in the wind, they pause, but just for the moment. Then off they tear to the north with the milder cattle lagging behind them. That is indeed the free life for the horse. For he is racing off not because he is afraid but because he is free.

Though these wild horses are hunted and captured as a regular business, may the few survivors not be of almost as much value picturesquely in the life of the country as commercially? Surely in this region, where one may go for 200 miles and pass not a dozen ranch houses, a few mustangs, at least, are entitled to remain to gladden the traveler. Already there are the first indications that this desert, some day, must bud and blossom as the rose. Even at Blue Eagle, where there is a single hut made out of old tin cans, and where gasoline is 75 cents a gallon, there is a windmill that is reclaiming a plot of excellent soil. Each of the dozen houses has its well, its spring, or its streamlet trickling from the treeless ravine in the mountain behind it. So, sooner or later, the wild wanderers must give way before civilization. Meanwhile the mororist who enjoys the desert has them for an added attraction—C. S. Monitor.

NEW ARTICLES IN UNIVERSITY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL

Current agricultural problems are discussed in leading articles of the January number of the University of California Journal of Agriculture issued today for the first time since its discontinuance at the outbreak of the war.

A. W. Christie, instructor in agricultural chemistry in the state university, outlines the construction and uses of the new fruit evaporator of the University of California Farm, which invention promises to save millions of dollars for California fruit and grape growers, and which, it is said, may entirely revive the wine grape industry.

Professor B. H. Crocheron, director of the Agricultural Extension Division, is the author of a report on the aims and proceedings of the newly organized National Bureau of Farm Advisors. Prof. J. F. Wilson, assistant professor of Animal Husbandry, writes on the future of the sheep industry in California.

Personals

Mrs. Amanda McCann of 400 Oak street on Monday was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium for treatment.

Mrs. C. B. Guittard, who has had quite a distressing time from infection in one of her fingers following an injury, is rejoicing over her almost complete recovery.

Mrs. C. H. Jones of Franklin Court was called north a few days ago to Calistoga, Cal., by the serious illness of her husband's mother. She was accompanied by her children. Mr. Jones, who for some time had charge of X-ray work at the Glendale Sanitarium, now has an office in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunch, who have been living on Stanley Avenue, are moving to some point in the north where Mr. Bunch has been offered a good position. The house they have been occupying has been sold to Mr. Martin, who with his wife and daughter will soon take possession.

Mr. and Mrs. G .Price of 500 Patterson Avenue have moved to Ocean Park and leased an apartment which they will occupy until the new home they are building is ready for them. The new owner of the Patterson Avenue house they have been occupying will not take possession of it until about Christmas time.

The Broadway Parent-Teacher Association is introducing an innovation intended to strengthen the bonds of union between the organization and the school by naming a "Room Mother" for each room who will be a sort of "dean" for the students. An effort is also being made to induce the members of the Association to come together for study.

Christmas decorations and suggestions are to be seen in most of the rooms of the Cerritos School, where Santa Clauses and Chimneys are much in evidence. Miss Atwood will have a tree for her kindergarten pupils next Friday afternoon. There will probably be some Christmas programs in most of the rooms Friday.

Saul Frank of 340 West Doran Street has been called to Kalamazoo, Michigan, on account of the serious illness of a nephew, who stands in the relation of a son to him as the boy when left an orphan was adopted and reared by him. If he is equal to the journey, Mr. Frank hopes to bring his nephew back with him when he returns to Glendale.

Mr. Millington of 416 Patterson Avenue has just returned from a four months' stay in Portland. He went up to view the situation, having been offered a fine position there. But he found the climate and conditions so different from Glendale that he could not bring himself to make the change. He says the prices of foods and rents are much higher than here.

Arthur G. Lindley of this city is said to be preparing plans for a 16-room, four-flat building to be erected at Culver City for Jane McGlone. Mr. Lindley has also been commissioned by the First Methodist Church of Burbank to prepare plans for a new building of frame and plaster with a combined seating capacity in main auditorium and Sunday School annex of 500 people. It will be quite modern in its appointments with graded classrooms, social parlors, banquet hall.

Mrs. Irene McReynolds and sons, Leslie and Robert, report a very enjoyable trip to the top of Mount Wilson last Sunday. Driving to the foot of the trail at Sierra Madre, they then made a leisurely ascent between 10:30 and 2 o'clock. They found snow at the summit and joined the other hikers in the general sport of snow-balling. The lower canyons are full of water from the heavy rains and melting snow, and many beautiful falls can be seen from the trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cavate of Palo Alto were dinner guests Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greenwalt at 408 Oak street, this city.

The city forester is finishing up the fag ends of tree trimming in order to clear the way for tree planting in the parkways.

It is probable that a printed report in pamphlet form will be issued by the city soon after the first of the year which will cover the administration of the past two years, as no report was issued last year.

THE 12-MINUTE SERVICE

December 9th, as promised, officials of the Pacific Electric put into effect the new 12-minute schedule for morning and evening, and issued new time tables showing that the service begins with cars leaving Glendale for Los Angeles at 6:13 a. m. and lasts for two hours. In the afternoon it begins with cars leaving Los Angeles for Glendale at 4:13 and lasts for two hours.

DEATH OF MARIAM MONAHAN

Mariam H. Monahan, age thirty-two years, passed away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hawes, 816 Cypress Avenue, Burbank, Wednesday afternoon, December 10th, 1919. Funeral services will be held at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company Friday at 1:30 p. m. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

DEATH OF AARON L. DODGE

Aaron L. Dodge died at his home at 115 South Verdugo Road Wednesday evening, December 10th, 1919, at the age of eighty years. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Melissa Dodge, and two brothers who reside in Unity, Maine. He had been a resident of Glendale for twelve years and had a large circle of friends by whom he will be missed. Funeral services will be held in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company at 2 p. m. Saturday, with interment in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

"THE CAMPFIRE"

GLENDALE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Scouts! At-t-e-n-n--n-shun!!

Fellows, we're off! After considerable delay our Council has met, and all coats are off and all sleeves rolled up! And we've got a fine Council too, fellows. Twenty-five of Glendale's finest men are backing us strong. Now it's up to us to show them we're the finest boys in Glendale and well worth that backing. So let us, too, pull off our coats and roll up our sleeves. Come on, boys! Now all together! Let's make the dust fly!

What's the first thing you ask?

Just pack up your lunch, a week from next Saturday, December 20th, bring all the pep you own, and you'll find out. Every Scout in Glendale who is a real Scout is going to join with all Glendale Scouts for a full day of corking good fun. "We don't know where we're going," (yet) "but we're on our way." And we're going to have the time of our gay young lives. So make it a date and be sure not to forget it. You'll find the bunch gathered at the Intermediate School ready to go by 8:30 a. m. (Better bring a quarter for carfare).

Now here is some more news. As you know, the city has very kindly offered us location for headquarters in the Council Chamber, upstairs, in the City Hall. Our office equipment has been ordered and headquarters will be established and the wheels under way this week. Now Mr. Kellogg wants every Scout in Glendale to call at headquarters and get acquainted. He will have a record card there for each Scout and he wants to make sure that every Scout is properly recorded. He will be at headquarters every day from 5 to 6 and on Tuesday from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. The earlier the Scout calls at headquarters the earlier will he be able to get ahead with his tests. So, Scouts, be sure to register at headquarters right away, in order to check up your record card, and receive your test certificate. You may be able at the same time to make an appointment for your next test or obtain some help from Mr. Kellogg on your tests.

Remember "A Scout is friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout." Mr. Kellogg is a Scout, too, and wants to be a personal friend, pal, and brother to every individual Scout in Glendale. So be sure to call at headquarters during office hours some time within the next two weeks and shake hands with your new "big brother," register and get your card.

EAST-WEST GAME TO BE PLAYED

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 11.—Harvard University's athletic authorities today definitely notified the Pasadena Tournament of Roses committee that the Harvard football team will come west to play the East-West football game at Pasadena New Year's Day. The decision followed the settlement of the coal strike.

ber of the chapter, Companion Gordon Kingsley, who served as organist, in spite of a lame wrist, yielded to persuasions and played charmingly Liszt's "Dream of Love," giving as an encore numbers from standard operas with his own improvizations which displayed his technique to advantage.

When the gavel was relinquished by Installing Officer Peet it was accepted by High Priest Lee, who made a brief speech in which he voiced his appreciation of the honor and dignity conferred upon him by the chapter and his earnest desire to be worthy of the trust imposed.

Grand King Mattison B. Jones was then called upon for a presentation speech. He began by referring to an argument he had in his youth with a fellow student as to whether a man who is merely performing his full duty deserves praise. He then took the ground that "no man can do more than his full duty, therefore if he does not merit praise this world is without praise absolutely." Said he:

"I have never changed my opinion. I do not see how any one in the office of High Priest can do more than his full duty to the chapter. The duties are so many and the responsibility as great that it is simply impossible for a human to surpass what I would consider his full duty in that position, yet when a man does his full duty as Clem L. V. Moore has done it, I am still on the affirmative side of the question and want to lay my tribute at the feet of the retiring High Priest because of the remarkable work he has done." The speaker then referred to the difficulties of the year through which Companion Moore had so successfully conducted the organization, especially referring to an indebtedness which had embarrassed the chapter, leaving a clean slate for his successor. He told of the happiness this release from debt brought the chapter and he then burned the cancelled note, the evidence of indebtedness. On behalf of the chapter he addressed Companion Moore rallying him on being at last in the same class with himself—a "has been," and stating the chapter wished to bestow upon him a token of its appreciation—a gift—probably a Masonic ring, which he would wear with pride. But on opening the box the speaker appeared to be greatly surprised, declaring it contained not a ring but a wrist-watch which he, as a grand officer of the order, considered unsuitable and which he would be unwilling to present. He therefore asked Companion Moore to retire, and to take his place summoned Mrs. Moore upon whom the watch was bestowed amid the applause of chapter members. Mrs. Moore stated she was too surprised to make a speech but nevertheless thanked the members very prettily.

Responding to call, Companion Moore then made an excellent speech in which he thanked the chapter for its loyal support and predicted a bright future for the organization and his successor in office.

A fine speech of congratulation was then made by Excellent High Priest Peet, which ended the public exercises, guests retiring while members closed the chapter.

Following is the list of retiring officers:

Clement Laird Vallandigham Moore, High Priest.
Mark Thurlow Lee, King.
William Small Rattray, Scribe.
Frank Horn Vesper, Treasurer.
James Wyvell, Secretary.
Thomas Daniel, Ogg, Chaplain.

TWO PICTURES

It is said that the Apaches had five words for murder, not one for love.

A recent analysis of soviet literature is said to show ten words for destruction, only one for construction; six words for communism, only one for patriotism.

Bolshevism, according to linguistic analysis, yields many words meaning pain, agony, torment, fear, awe, sadness, hunger, tears, distress, misery, imprisonment, adversity, calamity, disaster and confiscation.

Bolshevistic writings also yield many words meaning bereavement, widow, orphan, doom, death, grave and punishment.

We also find the following words abounding in soviet literature: revolt, masses, classes, seize, destroy, burn, demolish, blow up and finally: "In the work of destruction we must be merciless."

Americanism abounds in such words as love, brotherhood, home, country, protection, sympathy, pity, fellow-feeling, compassion, charity, friend, country, God, progress, assistance, hope.

The conditions portrayed by words are as true to life as the negative is to that upon which the camera was focused. Take your choice.—Walla Walla Bulletin.

ELECTRIC ROADS DOOMED

Jitneys, motor trucks, nickel fares and soaring prices. All these threaten to bring about the financial collapse of electric railways in California.

In its annual report, submitted to Governor Stephens, the State Railroad Commission tells the story:

"The electric railways have met in the recent past a most formidable and determined competitor—the automobile. Both the private automobile and the jitney have made enormous inroads on the passenger traffic that was formerly dependent upon electric railways.

"The automobile truck is an even more serious competitor in the freight traffic field, for the electric interurban railways almost without exception are depending for their freight revenue on short-haul business.

"Andyet it is clear that both the passenger automobile and the freight auto truck as competitors of the steam and electric railways are even now only in the first stages of their development.

"Electric railway utilities find it more and more difficult to obtain necessary new capital and for many companies the only escape from financial collapse is through drastic reorganization.

"The high cost of living has borne heavier on the electric railway business than any other industry for the reason that for street railways the standard fare has been a nickel. Not only have franchise provisions fixed on this unit, but the five cent fare has become an institution for American cities.

WHY WEST IS INTERESTED

The large amounts of money spent in putting together the plants of western metal producers in recent years amounts to approximately a billion dollars

The bulk of this money came from eastern investors and the west received the greatest benefit from the expenditure and steady payrolls maintained.

This is the reason why the west is interested in maintaining conditions which will make it possible for such industries to develop and get needed capital.

The west is peculiarly dependent on foreign orders and outside capital investments to maintain its prosperity.

We have unlimited resources but it takes money to develop them and purchasers to buy, as our own local requirements are small.

This is why we should all hump ourselves to establish and maintain sound measures in matters relating to legislation, labor questions and taxation.

WATCH FOR SCOUT NEWS

The Glendale Evening News, which like all other broad-minded and up-to-date firms and individuals, is backing the Scouts with real enthusiastic co-operation. ONE YEAR AT Y. W. C. A. HOSTESS HOUSE

Four hundred thousand persons and more served in the cafeteria in one year is the record of the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House at Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash.

The majority of the 400,000 diners were mothers, wives, sweethearts and friends who went to the camp to visit their soldiers. The remainder were soldiers themselves who broke the monotony of chow with home cooked meals. In addition to all these guests, 25,000 little children were cared for in the nursery and the rest room served 70,000 tired wives and mothers.

The workers at the information desk received and answered 97,000 questions varying from how to get the best connections to a destination clear across the continent, the rates of soldiers' insurance and the kind of cretonne a girl bride should have in her living room when Private John comes home from France. Eleven thousand of these queries required telephone conversations with various company commanders relative to hunting up a soldier whose parents had arrived unexpectedly.

"Had this building stood for just one month's service and that the month of June, it would have been worth while," says Miss Constance Clark, director. "We made it easier during that hard month for hundreds of women who were going through the hardest experience of their lives. Our rest room was filled with women, almost beside themselves with grief and sorrow at parting from their loved ones. The house sheltered many a mother whose son was hopelessly ill and in the hospital then and during the recent Influenza epidemic."

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 11.—Mayors of San Joaquin Valley cities were to gather in the city hall here this afternoon to discuss problems of finance and revenue.

Mayors Jay A. Hinman of Bakersfield, W. F. Toomey of Fresno and Isaac Clark of Visalia called the conference.

Mayor M. P. Snyder of Los Angeles is scheduled to talk on ways and means of raising money to pay the running expenses of a municipality and especially the income license tax, at a banquet to visiting mayors in the evening.

"Owing to conditions brought about by the war nearly every city in the United States is placed in a position whereby the cost of operation is now from twenty-five to fifty per cent higher than formerly," said Mayor Hinman. "This advance cost of operation must be met. Some cities have reached their tax limit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Hearing of the charge against Mrs. Agnes Hunter of assault to commit murder was to be resumed here today before Police Judge Sullivan.

Her former husband, William P. Hunter's bride of a few weeks was in the hotel when the shooting occurred, but did not witness it. Hunter has practically recovered, although the bullets were not extracted from his body.
